BORDERLAND AGRICULTURE

Brooks & Jen White • Box 288, Pierson, Manitoba, Canada R0M 1S0 • 204-576-3600

At Borderland, we focus on Regenerative Agriculture by incorporating bison production into a highly diverse cropping system. Our bison are the key component to our vision of improving soil health. We utilize their natural hardiness in our #graze365 program and have come to realize that health soil = healthy animals = nutrient dense food. In 2018 we were recognized in Canada's Outstanding Young Farmers Program.

We have a grass finished bison breeding program, however the bull in this sale was raised on both grass and bison pellets in the past year as a performance test for this industry. We are confident that this bull will perform well under a grass or a performance-based system. Our bulls have been recognized in 2019 and 2018 as grand champions at the Legend's of the Fall Sale in Minnesota.

BUFFALO COUNTY BISON

Jim & Cindy Lutter • 23534 SD Highway 45, Gann Valley, SD 57341 • 605-680-0280

Buffalo County Bison is nestled alongside Crow Creek just east of the Crow Creek Reservation in the heart of Buffalo County, South Dakota. The ranch converted to bison in 1997. Under the guidance of the late Wendell Peden, DVM of Peden Consulting, extreme prejudice to bison purity and bison genetics has been pursued. Buffalo County Bison has been utilizing the diagnostics from Texas A&M University to achieve the herd's genetic purity and diversity management. Since 2018, four Yellowstone bulls have been added to push our program to the next level. While striving to contribute to excellence of the industry, two of our ranch's highest priorities are: First, to produce the best bison possible free of beef cattle introgression. Second, to finish the best carcasses with consistent quality while harvesting under 18 months of age. Owners Jim and Cindy Lutter are wholeheartedly invested in the bison industry and are grateful to be playing their part in shaping its future.

SLIM BUTTES BUFFALO RANCH

Sandy & Jacki Limpert and Brodie & Halona Limpert • 14129 Limpert Road, Buffalo, SD • 605-866-4846

SBBR has been raising buffalo for 25 years with a heavy commitment to genetic improvement. We currently run over 1000 mother cows in a holistic grazing manner. With over 30 pastures and extensive water development, the herd is moved every 7 to 10 days to fresh grass and water. In just a few years of practicing holistic grazing, SBBR has witnessed improved herd health, less fly problems, increased grass production and plant diversity. SBBR strongly believes in the principles of holistic grazing management from what we have seen with the improvement of the bottom line and soil and plant health.

SBBR is very proud to have received the DTBA Producer of the Year several times along with numerous awards over the years. A highlight was winning both the Young Gun and the Girlz Gone Wild classes in 2015.

VIKING BISON RANCH

Gary & Leslie Christianson • Box 144 • Naicam, Saskatchewan, Canada • 306-874-2317

Viking Bison Ranch, Inc., has been active in the bison industry for more than 22 years. Over the years, the ranch has built up a reputation for having the very best pure Wood and cross genetic breeding bulls in the business in Canada. The ranch presently operates two pure Wood bison herds and one cross genetics herd. At Viking Bison Ranch we always have high end breeding stock available. At the recent 2020 Canadian National Bison Sale, the two bulls on offering from our ranch brought top dollar and helped generate tremendous additional interest in our breeding program, particularly in the United States.

Our philosophy is to never feed the animals with heavy feed. All weaned calves are on grass only the following summer. Only oats are fed in our operation. We believe in eliminating stress for the animals whenever possible. We are excited to be a part of the 2021 National Bison Association Gold Trophy Show and Sale in Rapid City this year. This will be our first time participating in this prestigious event. We feel strongly that the quality of bulls we have selected for the sale speak for themselves.

I chose these heifers as a pair because of their great depth and length and confirmation. Both heifers have received 8-way, Safeguard and Bovishield Gold FPS vaccinations and were wormed with Ivomec. They have been on grass hay and oats. Weights in December 2018 was 540 pounds (72A) and 545 pounds (72B); October 2020 was 1210 pounds (both) and January 2021 was 1335 pounds (both). *These heifers are Non-Vaccinates for Brucellosis.
